A Message from the President

Dear Student/ Applicant,

It is with great joy and a sense of excitement that I address you in this letter, for I know that those that are reading through this Catalog/Manual are either new students to Northwestern Theological Seminary or are currently looking at NTS as a means of proceeding on with a theological education and preparation. That calls for excitement as it shows that more and more, around the world, there are those that wish to prepare themselves to be more effective in the work of the Kingdom of God and the spread of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

The Northwestern Theological Seminary concept began in Detroit, Michigan in 1980, and has been preparing men and women for the past 30 years, leading them in a path to a higher understanding of the Scriptures with a clear acceptance of God's inspiration of His Word, making it profitable for teaching, for rebuking, for correcting, and for training in righteousness, so that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work. 2 Timothy 3:16-17

Our focus and call at NTS is to make disciples around the world who will continue the spread of the Gospel, rightly dividing the Word so that they may not be easily tossed from side to side by every coming wind of doctrine and teaching that does not align with the Word of God. At NTS you will utilize a system of analytical research in order to better understand the content of the courses. As you write each paper you will find yourself understanding things through the use of applying and analyzing the information into your own words, greatly increasing the level of retention of information. NTS strives to better relate with the needs of the average person by not limiting the time of study and allowing one to achieve comfortable and attainable study habits which allow for completion of Degree programs without interfering with the busy schedules of most students. A level of self-discipline is required of all students, as they commit to the completion of their course work, leading to degree award.

I would encourage you to take your time reading through this Catalog/Manual and be sure that you understand exactly what NTS has to offer. I would also encourage you to visit our websites for more information. If you are ready to begin, then I congratulate you in your decision to get started and welcome you to our student body.

If you are still considering your decision, we join with you in prayer for God's guidance regarding your decision to fulfill your Christ-centered education at NTS. We do believe that there are many good schools that can help equip you, but we also understand that men and women of God, who have deposited their trust and future in His hands, will seek God's direction in all matters.

May God continually bless you, and we look forward to working with you in your achievements of a higher education.

Sincerely in Christ

Dr. Samuel Galloza, Ph.D., D.D.
President,
Northwestern Theological Seminary

Statement of Faith

(1) We believe the Bible to be the inspired, infallible Word of God. (2) We believe that there is one God, eternally existent in three persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit. (3) We believe in the Genesis account of creation. (4) We believe in the deity of Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning death through His shed blood, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the right hand of the Father, and in His personal return in power and glory. (5) We believe that salvation is the free gift of God by grace, through faith and is possessed by each individual who has, by grace through faith, received the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Savior. (6) We believe in the present ministry of the Holy Spirit, whose indwelling empowers Christians to live a godly life. (7) We believe in the resurrection of both the saved and the lost; they that are saved, unto the resurrection of eternal life in a literal heaven and they that are lost unto the resurrection of damnation, in a literal hell. (8) We believe in the spiritual unity of believers in our Lord Jesus Christ, who is the head of HIS body, the one true Church. (9) We believe that through the gift of faith, God draws those who will believe the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. (10) We believe that God's grace, mercy and love endures forever.

Course Materials

Northwestern Theological Seminary courses have been evaluated together with the program material necessary in order to complete the requirements for each course of study.

For the most part, students will use a variety of PDF books available at no charge from our Virtual Library. In the case of Module Five, students are required to purchase the necessary textbooks* in order to complete the specified courses in that module. All attempts to maintain textbook purchases at a minimum have been taken, as well as the choosing of textbooks that are both economical and easily available at bookstores and online. *These books are available through Amazon.com or other major books stores.

"I have truly been blessed by being a student of NTS. The educational process at NTS has shown me how to retain the information I am learning. I have a greater appreciation for God and His creation."

Accreditation

United States Government Approval

We are recognized by the Government of the United States of America, as a 501 (c)(3) Religious Organization with all rights and privileges as provided by law.

State of Florida

State of Florida Department of Education

Northwestern Theological Seminary operates under authorization, as a degree granting institution through exemption, by the Florida State Board of Independent Colleges and Universities under Section 1005.06 (1) (f), FLA Statutes. The state, like other states, does not require accreditation or theological accreditation for our religious education.

Theological Accreditation

NTS is a Theologically Accredited Biblical Seminary

We are fully accredited by the WORLD-WIDE ACCREDITATION COMMISSION OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS (WWAC) Anyone wishing to contact them for verification may write to: The WWAC, Dr. Paul Richardson Executive President, 2800 Blendwell Rd. Richmond, Va. 23224.

We wish to make it perfectly clear that due to the principle of separation of Church and state Mk.12:17; Ja. 4:4; II Cor. 6:14, the WWAC has chosen not to seek endorsement by either the EAES or COPA, but is a rapidly growing and respected network of over 200 schools on the cutting edge of the Cause of Christ."

About Accreditation

Throughout history there has always been some religious confusion,, and there is some controversy over the subject of accreditation today. But to clarify the issue:

- * There is secular education and there is religious education.
- * Secular schools seek secular accreditation, and sacred schools receive sacred accreditation - each by their own peers.
- * Religious institutions need no secular accreditation because they offer no secular degrees.
- * Secular accreditation associations in turn are recognized by governmental agencies. They trace their authority back up to the capitol of a country, like Washington, D.C.
- * Religious accrediting associations are recognized by the Church of Jesus Christ, which has no supreme central office on earth. Our authority is derived from Heaven.
- * Civil and religious interests are different and have separate realms of jurisdiction.
- * The state is not superior to the Church. The Church need not wait for approval from the secular world.

* Civil agencies should not be dictating standards of Christian education, any more than a police officer should be directing the worship of God.

* Theological Seminaries should not be accredited by accrediting associations that are "recognized" by an agency of the federal government, because it is contrary to the Biblical principle of "Separation of Church and State", indicated by Christ when he said, "render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." Mark 12:7.

* What business does a Christian educator have, going to the world of unbelievers for recognition and acknowledgment as II Cor. 6:14 says, "Be not equally yoked together with unbelievers: For what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness?"

As a theologically accredited Biblical seminary, we are not required, by the U.S. Dept. of Education or any other agency, to have regional accreditation nor are we subject to governmental or secular oversight. As such, our educational programs are not required to qualify our students for either governmental or secular certification. However, legally, our degrees are classified as theologically accredited and state authorized as exempt, which fully qualifies all degrees from Northwestern Theological Seminary to be recorded professionally both on your resume and in personal employment records. You can be proud of the legitimacy of your Degrees from Northwestern Theological Seminary.

Our ministries are recognized by the Government of the United States, as a 501 (c) (3) Religious Organization. Since we are considerate of and obedient to all of the laws set by our government, as a Christ centered biblical education ministry, our ultimate authority is God and as such we choose to remain free in our rights to teach degree programs based on the word of God as found in His Holy Bible. However, Because of our legal position based on the U.S. Constitution, NO outside agency has any authority over our educational content regarding our right to teach Bible based educational programs leading to the award of appropriate certificates and degrees.

More On Accreditation

In the United States, accreditation of universities and seminaries is a voluntary process with accreditation granted by private, non-governmental agencies. Governmental agencies never provide theological accreditation.

Additionally, there is no national standard for educational accreditation, and the educational world is currently re-examining criteria for accreditation, focusing less on institutional inputs and more on educational outcomes.

There is no such requirement as Federal or State accreditation of a religious institution, because the civil government has no authority to regulate religious teachings or which certificates or religious degrees upon completion of such education may be issued. This is a matter of separation of Church and State. Politicians and civil authorities must never be allowed to officially endorse or disapprove directly or indirectly the beliefs and practices of churches or their schools. A casual survey of Church history shows that such linkage with "Caesar" eventually leads to infringement upon conscience, bondage, and corruption. Therefore, to be accredited by any agency, which in turn is controlled by the U.S. Department of Education, would to some degree be a compromise of the separation principle and constitute a violation of the Church's sovereignty.

[Source: Dr. Paul Richardson]

The Apostle Paul said, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel, for it is the power of God unto salvation for everyone that believes." (Romans 1:16a)

IMPORTANT: The United States Department of Education does NOT accredit any College, University, Seminary or any Education Program. Here is a quote from the U.S. Department of Education's Web Page:

http://www.ed.gov/about/overview/focus/what_pg5.html#doesnot

WHAT THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION DOES NOT DO

Under the Tenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." Nothing specific is said about education in the Constitution; therefore it falls outside federal authority.

In creating the Department of Education, Congress made clear its intention that the secretary of education and other Department officials be prohibited from exercising "any direction, supervision, or control over the curriculum program of instruction, administration, or personnel of any educational institution, school, or school system." The establishment of schools and colleges, the development of curricula, the setting of requirements for enrollment and graduation -- these are responsibilities handled by the various states and communities, as well as by public and private organizations of all kinds, not by the U.S. Department of Education."

The Facts Concerning Regional Accreditation

Our board of advisors has chosen not to apply for regional accreditation for the following reasons:

Reasons:

- Regional Accreditation is a "Voluntary Process" that is not required of religious institutions.
- A regionally accredited degree is required for public school teachers in all states, and for some state and federal employment situations. It is our opinion, that the vast majority of ministry related employers do not require that a minister or religious worker have a degree from a regionally accredited school.
- Ministers and Religious workers do not need a degree from a regionally accredited school unless regional accreditation of the school is required by their Church Board or as a requirement of ordination by the particular religious denomination.
- Individuals in today's world have sufficient information resource to evaluate programs, schools and universities without depending on the "opinions" of accrediting associations.
- Regional Accrediting Association does NOT guarantee the quality of a school, its programs or acceptability of the Degree by any other school or employer.

Regional Accrediting Associations:

- Do not require regionally accredited schools to accept transfer students from other regionally accredited schools and are not required to accept transfer students from schools that are not regionally accredited
- Try to dictate hiring practices
- Attempt to influence guidelines for faculty selection
- Presume to influence curriculum. Such practices clearly interfere with Academic Freedom
- Regional Accrediting Associations' policies have not kept up with technology for the modern trend of Web Based Distance Education

And the authorities said, "We gave you strict orders not to continue teaching, in the name of this man Jesus, behold now you have filled all of Jerusalem with your teaching and you intend to bring the blood of Jesus upon us." But Peter and the Apostles answered and said, "We must serve God rather than men." (Acts 5: 28-29)

"And the things which you have heard from me in the presence of many witnesses, these entrust to faithful men, who will be able to teach others also." (2 Timothy 2:2)

Transfer of Credits

No college, university or other institute of higher education is obligated to accept transfer credits from any other institution. However, other institutions in transfer have accepted NTS credits, but (as with any college, university, seminary or other institution) decisions concerning the acceptance of credits by an institution other than NTS, its affiliates and/or branches are at the sole discretion of the receiving institution, and no representation is made concerning the transferability of credits to such institutions. Students considering continuing their education at another institution should not assume that credits earned at NTS, its affiliates and/or branches will be accepted by the receiving institution without inquiring of the registrar of the receiving institution as to that institution's policy concerning the acceptance of such credits.

Students and applicants that have earned credits in other institutions will be evaluated by NTS in order to determine whether those credits can be applied to their course requirements in their NTS Degree Programs.

NTS Educational Process

"The Analytical Process for Applied Education"

Northwestern Theological Seminary utilizes a unique process for learning, developed by our founder, Dr. Howard M. Sarkela, in early August of 1980. This process is more than a teaching system and better termed as a contemporary process for learning and applying knowledge. Dr. Sarkela has attending colleges and universities found that the old system of education was greatly lacking in effectiveness and efficiency. He found that the archaic, yet still in practice, system of memorizing lists and cramming for examinations resulted in considerable loss of knowledge because of the fact that much which is memorized, through cramming, goes into our short term memory and may be quickly forgotten. As a result of this discovery he decided that there must be a better way, whereby students can acquire knowledge and assimilate it while at the same time being better enabled to retrieve it for application in their lives and careers.

The process developed is called: "The analytical process for applied education." This simple yet thorough method of study involves the inductive method, of progressing from the GENERAL to the SPECIFIC while assimilating and applying the knowledge gained through research.

The GENERAL process involves making a general outline and doing research to gather data, then utilizing the gathered information to formulate and develop a comprehensive research project. Writing this research paper, involves compilation, comprehension and application of the relevant data being researched. To do this, the student must continuously be asking, "What is the value of this information relative to the subject?" and then crystallizing it by asking, "how can I apply this general and specific knowledge for the enhancement of my education, life and career?" as well as, "How can I apply this information in helping others?" Repetition of this process, improves the ability to perform quality

"I really value that Northwestern Theological Seminary is dedicated to provide me with a quality Christ centered academic program, reasonably priced, accredited, accessible, challenging to the diverse population of adult learners. Also, I can set my own agenda and it allows me to complete my degree in less time when put compared to attending a traditional on Campus College or University."
Cuozzo M.
California

research, as well as the ability to assimilate and apply knowledge gained from quality research. Using this methodology to fulfill a research assignment leads to better comprehension and retention of valuable information thus complimenting the learning process and further enabling the learner.

The SPECIFIC process evolves: First, during the research phase, through analysis to develop many specific questions, in detail, relative to the student's interest in particular subject matter, considering how it may be applied to learning, life and career. Second, by doing further research to find specific answers that the student can assimilate and apply for the enhancement of their learning, life and career, as well as to their ministry of helping and educating others. This valuable learned information is then interwoven into the research project. Through this process of education, the student is able to remember more of the valuable information that he or she is exposed to. Understanding specific information well enough to remember and apply it is the goal of this process of analytical research study. Obviously, there can be tremendous educational, life, career and ministry value achieved through such effective application of both general and specific knowledge.

If it is true, that intelligence quotient, or I.Q., relates not so much to acquired knowledge as it does to the ability to apply such knowledge, then it is logical that the "analytical process of applied education," should result in higher I.Q. scores whenever this advanced, process of contemporary education has been continuously and conscientiously practiced.

As a student of Northwestern Theological Seminary, you will receive education based on this advanced educational process. Having a better ability to recall knowledge learned through this process of research, assimilation and personal application, as well as having a better ability of knowing how to find answers through research, will provide our students with more of an advantage in our modern, competitive society.

Knowing the correct questions to ask and knowing how to find the correct answers as well as knowing how to correctly apply such answers for your learning, life and career, is a priceless gift, a gift we offer to all of our students at Northwestern Theological Seminary.

Love Offers in Lieu of Tuition

The students to NTS submit love Offers in lieu of tuition. These Love Offers represent a committed amount that the student will pay for their Degree Programs, while at the same time supporting ministries affiliated with Christian Alliance Ministries Worldwide. The amounts stated are minimum acceptable amounts.

The following represent the Love Offer in lieu of tuition required in order to enroll in specified Degree Programs. Furthermore, you will find that in comparison to the total costs of tuition and all other expenses required for living on campus and attending traditional schools, that the minimum suggested Love Offers at NTS, represent up to a 98% savings.

In 2008, a business week magazine article revealed that private colleges and universities require tuition, books, lodging, fees etc. of over $25,000 per year. A 4-year degree would cost over $100,000. *Copies of this article are available by request.

Questions Regarding Educational Grants & GI Bill

Although NTS is a theologically accredited school with state authorization to grant religious degrees, because of the fact that the seminary is not a regionally accredited school, NTS does not qualify for any government sponsored grants or GI Bills.

Note: Military Chaplaincy

Although some of our graduates currently function in the calling as Chaplains within the police, fire, and prison departments throughout the United States, Military Chaplaincy in the US Military requires that you obtain a degree from a regionally accredited school, and at this time NTS will not qualify you in your degree requirements as a military chaplain. (See section on the NTS Accreditation for further information on types of accreditations) Our view of a chaplain is one that has been called to the ministry by God, and one that can be prepared through a religious educational institution. For some, chaplaincy is looked at as a career or occupation, which will require the same type of accreditation in their degrees as that of any other secular major.

Frequently Asked Questions

Is Northwestern Theological Seminary accredited?

Northwestern Theological Seminary is theologically accredited World-Wide Accreditation Commission of Christian Educational Institutions (WWAC), in Richmond, Virginia, but has opted not to be regionally accredited. This means that Northwestern Theological Seminary is not eligible for student loans, grants, or GI Bills.

Are degrees awarded by Northwestern Theological Seminary recognized?

Degrees awarded by Northwestern Theological Seminary are legal degrees recognized as religious degrees by the State of Florida, USA. You are legally entitled to use achieved educational degrees from NTS in your resumes, as well as titles of doctor in your name. For the most part, religious bodies accept degrees issued by non-regionally accredited schools, but we would advise that if you are interested in a specific religious organization, that you obtain the educational criteria for ordination by that specific organization.

What is meant by Love Offer in lieu of tuition?

All degree programs of Northwestern Theological Seminary are offered with a Love Offer range based on the specific level of study (Bachelor, Master, or Doctorate). The applicant agrees to pay a Love Offer within the range established in the application for enrollment, with the minimum amount being accepted for payment of the program. The term 'Love Offer' is used because of the international work that is supported by the funds received through Northwestern Theological Seminary and is received in lieu of tuition. The 'Love Offer' amount represents the required full amount necessary to earn a specific degree through the chosen degree program in the application.

Am I required to attend any on-campus classes?

No. All of our courses are established as Distant Learning Courses. Once the applicant is enrolled, they will receive through their degree programs including the required reference books in PDF format or multimedia reference. There is no need to view any online classes, or attend any classes in any campus. Once you receive and download your course work, you begin working from your computer and emailing the completed courses.

How long does it take to complete a degree program?

This is solely based on the student's dedication to their studies, the amount of credits transferred from previous schools, life experience credits earned, and required courses left to complete. Degrees are normally established to be completed within 2 years, but in some cases, programs have been completed in less than 1 year.

How long do I have to complete my program?

There are no time limits in your program. You are encouraged to set aside a certain time every week to dedicate to your studies, but at no time will you be rushed through your program if you should decide to take some time off from your studies.

Will Northwestern Theological Seminary accept credits earned by non-accredited schools or programs?

In most cases, once it is evaluated, we will allow for non-accredited courses to be transferred as long as it is compatible to the course of study necessary for your degree program. We would encourage that you submit all of your studies for consideration.

Can I earn a degree with Northwestern Theological Seminary by just using life experience?

No. Life experience credits can only account for up to 25% of your required credits in your degree program. NTS degrees are earned degrees which will require that course work be submitted and a passing grade given in order to receive a degree from this seminary.

What is the seminary's denominational standing?

Northwestern Theological Seminary is a non-denominational religious institution. We encourage all denominations to apply for enrollment. Our courses are structured in a way in which a student can complete their research papers from an individual denominational position. You will only be asked to be completely thorough in your paper providing adequate reference work to support your position.

Why does it seem as if the educational programs of Northwestern Theological Seminary sound too good to be true?

Obviously, this is a very common question among our applicants, and we understand why. Because NTS is a Christ-centered religious institution that seeks to prepare men and women for their individual callings, our answer is simple; we are a seminary interested in fulfilling God's calling to provide Christ centered Biblical education for the world at minimal expense. However, we encourage our applicants to seek God's direction through prayer, in the choosing of an educational institution from which to complete their degree programs. Only if God has given you peace and assurance in your decision to enroll with Northwestern Theological Seminary should you submit an application to enroll. For all who enroll, we truly believe that each student will receive the benefit of uncompromised, Godly instruction as found only in the Living Word of Jesus Christ.
